

```

1  #!/usr/bin/env python3
2
3  """
4  A simple Python script to demonstrate various features and syntax.
5  """
6
7  # Importing modules
8  import sys
9  import os
10 import random
11
12 # Constants
13 VERSION = "1.0.0"
14 AUTHOR = "John Doe"
15
16 # Function definitions
17 def greet(name):
18     """Greet a person by name"""
19     return f"Hello, {name}!"
20
21 def calculate_sum(a, b):
22     """Calculate the sum of two numbers"""
23     return a + b
24
25 # Main function
26 def main():
27     """Main function to execute the script"""
28     # Get command line arguments
29     args = sys.argv[1:]
30
31     # Check if a name is provided
32     if len(args) == 0:
33         name = "World"
34     else:
35         name = args[0]
36
37     # Greet the user
38     message = greet(name)
39
40     # Calculate the sum of two numbers
41     a = 10
42     b = 20
43     result = calculate_sum(a, b)
44
45     # Print the results
46     print(message)
47     print(f"Sum of {a} and {b} is {result}")
48
49 # Entry point
50 if __name__ == "__main__":
51     main()
52
53 """
54 Additional comments and documentation.
55 """

```